Changing the cabin filter on a Dacia Sandero

This tutorial is intended to show you how to change your cabin filter on your Dacia Sandero yourself.

Written By: Marion Deschamps

PARTS:

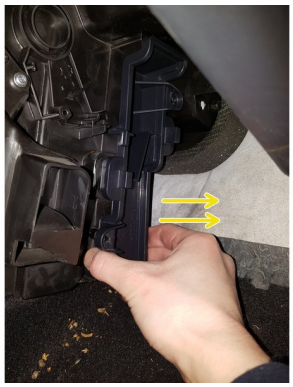
- Cabin filter (1)

© 2024

Step 1 — Locate the cabin filter cover

- Locate the glove box. Lean over and look to your left.
- Locate the cabin filter cover

Step 2 — Remove the cabin filter cover



- Pull to the right to remove the cover, do not hesitate because it may show a little resistance.
- Do the same on the higher part
- Remove the cover

Step 3 — Remove the cabin filter

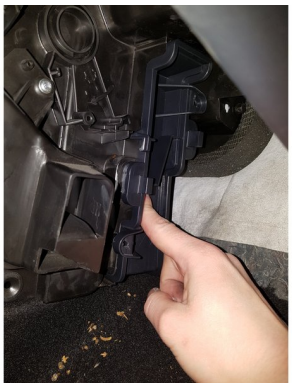
- Once the cover is removed, we can see the Cabin Filter
- Place a finger on the lower part and pull the filter
- ⚠ The filter may show a little resistance, pull gradually.

Step 4 — Compare and replace the new cabin filter

- Once the filter is removed, look carefully at the direction in which it was previously placed.
- Compare the old cabin filter and the new filter (width, thickness, etc.)
- Take the new filter and proceed in the same way as for removing the old one.
- Insert the
- ⚠ The folds should be horizontal and the "hard" parts on the sides.

© 2024

Step 5 — Close the passenger compartment cover



- Reposition the cover in the same direction (see photo)
- Press well